What are some adverbs of place

In order to continue enjoying our site, we ask that you confirm your identity as a human. Thank you very much for your cooperation. This is an alphabetical list of common single-word place adverbs. Adverbs of place mainly modify verbs and tell us where something happens. aboutaboveabroadanywhereawaybackbackwards (also backward)behindbelowdowndownstairseast (etc)elsewherefarhereinindoorsinsidenearearbyofonoutsideovertetheretowardsunderupstairswhere In English grammar, an adverb of a place is an adverb (such as here or inside) that tells where the action of a verb is or was carried out. Also called a place adverbial or a spatial adverb. Common adverbs (or adverbial phrases) of place include above, anywhere, behind, below, downward, everywhere, forward, here, in, inside, left, near, outside, over there, sideways, underneath, and upward. Certain prepositional phrases (such as at home and under the bed) can function as adverbs of place. Some adverbs of place, such as here and there, belong to a system of place or spatial deixis. In other words, the place that's referred to (as in "Here is the book") is commonly determined by the physical location of the speaker. Thus the spatial adverb here is usually the place where here is uttered. (This aspect of grammar is treated in the branch of linguistics known as pragmatics.) Adverbs of place commonly appear at the end of a clause or sentence. Television programs produced in New York and Hollywood are seen worldwide. Unfortunately, incompetence can be found everywhere. When giving a presentation, please don't just stand there and read from the slides. Leave the car here. Leave the car in the driveway. The emperor stayed at the palace. I heard a nightingale singing somewhere not far away. "Just picture a penthouse way up in the sky,With hinges on chimneys, for clouds to go by."(Val Burton and Will Jason, "When We're Alone") "Emerging from the wood, she skirted past the far side of the bowling green and walked down the steps of the sunken rose garden and out the other side."(Alison Prince, "The Water Mill." The Young Oxford Book of Nightmares, Oxford University Press, 2000) "Seaton's aunt was standing in the garden beside the open French window, feeding a great flutter of birds."(Walter de la Mare, "Seaton's Aunt." The London Mercury, 1922) A Deictic Place Adverb in Context[In the following example, the spatial adverb 'here' was not provided when reference was made in line 1 to the necklace Elsie was wearing at the time.1. Heidi: This is a nice necklace that you have.2. Elsie: Here?3. Heidi: The . . . the necklace here.4. Elsie: Oh yes. Elsie's request for clarification in line 2 indicates that she was missing that information in my utterance represented in line 1.](Heidi E. Hamilton, "Requests for Clarification as Evidence of Pragmatic Comprehension Difficulty," Discourse Analysis and Applications: Studies in Adult Clinical Populations, ed. by Ronald L. Bloom, Lorraine K. Obler, Susan De Santi, and Jonathan S. Ehrlich. Psychology Press, 2013) Place Adverbs vs. Dummy Subjects"It's important to show the stressed place adverb there (there's my school) compared to the unstressed dummy subject there (there's a school beside the mosque) . . ."(Tony Penston, A Concise Grammar for English Language Teachers. TP Publications, 2005) Shifting Place Adverbs and Main Verbs"When a place adverb or adverbial phrase is moved to the beginning of the sentence, the main verb can be placed before the subject if it is in a simple tense. Here comes the next party of tourists.Beyond the city boundaries lived a farming community." (Annette Capel and Michael Black, Objective IELTS Advanced Self-Study Student's Book. Cambridge University Press, 2006) Adverbs that change or qualify the meaning of a sentence by telling us where things happen are defined as adverbs of place. Some instructors refer to these words or phrases as spatial adverbs. No matter what they are called, these adverbs always answer one important question: Where? These simple rules for adverbs of place will help you to use them the right way: An adverb of place always talks about the location where the action of the verb is being carried out. Adverbs of place are normally placed after a sentence's object or main verb. Adverbs of place can be directional. For example: Up, down, around, away, north, southeast Adverbs of place can refer to distances. For example: Nearby, far away, miles apart An adverb of place can indicate an object's position in relation to another object. For example: Below, between, above, behind, through, around and so forth. Many adverbs of place indicate movement in a particular direction and end in the letters "-ward or -wards". For example: Toward, forward, backward, homeward, westward, eastwards onwards Examples of Adverbs of Place Each sentence contains an example of an adverb of place; the examples are italicized for easy identification. As you read these examples, you will notice that some of the adverbs of place contain more than one word. Put the cake there. After a long day at work, we headed homewards.
